PUBLIC SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The first commencement of the public schools of Bloomsburg was held in the opera house last evening, Thursday, May 12th It was intended that those who are interested in the welfare of the public schools should have a comfortable seat, hence tickets of admission were provided, but with all the precaution there was a great crowd. The pupils of the high school were given the first six rows of chairs, and the patrons all in the rear; no seats were reserved. On the stage was seated the Board of Directors, including the newly elected member; the principal of the schools, L. P. Sterner, Rev. D. J. Waller, jr., who gave the address of the evening; Prof. Butts, teacher of music at the Normal School, and who had charge of the music upon this occasion; Rev. W. C. Leverett, of the Episcopal church and Rev. P. A. Heilman, of the Lutheran church; the graduating class; Prof. Johnston, county superintendent; together with a number of officials of the town. It was about eight o'clock when the exercises were commenced and the following programme rendered:

Recitation, "A Convict's Christmas Eve," Emma Cadman; Essay, "I Didn't Think," Hattie F. Carpenter, Recitation, "Paul has run off with a Show," Theresa Hehl; Music, "Sweet the Angelus is Ringing," H. Smart; Recitation, "The Three Lovers," Minnie Hehl; Essay, "Beauty in its Relation to Home Life," Gertie C. Briggs; Recitation, "The Farmer and the Wheel," Kate Peifer; Music, "I would that my love," Mendelssohn; Recitation, "Herve Reil," Jessie B. Ent; Essay, "Class History," Irene L. Girton; Music, "We have Wandered," Glover.

Dr. Waller, state superintendent of Public Instruction, then gave an interesting address to the graduates, members of the school and the patrons. The Dr. is very enthusiastic in his work as a public educator, and is trying to bring the Public Schools of Pennsylvania, first of any state in the Union. We should like to give his address in full. Following the address was a choice selection of music, entitled, "Voice of the Western Wind." The president of the Board of Education, after thanking the principal and instructors of the Normal School for the valuable assistance given them, addressed the graduating class as follows:

To-day marks a step of progress for you. You have made it possible for us to celebrate this first commencement of the public schools of Bloomsburg, because you have been proficient in the branches of study set apart for the senior class in our high school. It is therefore especially proper that lasting impressions should be made upon this occasion.

A little over a year ago the School Board thought that our schools had too long remained in a comatose state; that we had kept schools long enough, and now we must start out with a distinct purpose. A course of study was prepared, printed in convenient form and freely distributed throughout the town. Imperfect though it may be, it was the first step in the right direction, and the Board feel gratified at the result—a class of eight marking the first commencement of the Public Schools.

It is a matter of history, that in the towns where Normal Schools are located, the Public Schools have been inferior to those of other towns of same size or smaller. The only reason that can be assigned for this is that of patronage of the Normal School, leaving the Public Schools take care of themselves, and the breech widening between the two. The past has shown us the error. The two should work in unison. Not more than four pupils of the Public Schools of Bloomsburg annually enter the Normal School. This year we advance eight, all of whom we believe will enter the Senior class at the Normal School and graduate in the Elementary course in one year.

Had the same earnest thought and work been applied in the past, instead of a class of eight we might have had a score or more. This march in our Public Schools we hope will move on, and on, until every child who enters the lowest grade, may continue step by step, with no interruption, until they take part in these commencements.

It seems strange that events of this character, when pupils have completed the branches as prescribed in the highest department, should be called commencement. The word climax would seem more appropriate. But the experience of those who have endured the struggles of life teach us that when we have completed an education in an institution of learning wherein a specific course of study is taught, that then only are we fitted for the burdens we must bear. When we possess such an armor then we are ready to commence the active realities of life. These diplomas should mean more than a certificate of having completed the Normal course of instruction in the Public Schools, but they should mark a new growth—a forward step. As this day marks a great stride in our public schools, may it also inculcate a desire to make life a success. Your teachers have labored industriously that you might make this initiative step in life. They also, no doubt, cherish the hope that you may continue to advance. We all expect to see you enter the Senior class at the Normal school and in one year complete the Elementary course, being thus fitted for the commencement of the noble profession of teaching. However stale it may seem, yet I can not upon this occasion, refrain from saying a few words that may interest the teachers of our Public Schools. In this age of electric power, there is a demand for teachers who are quick to catch the best method of discipline, and who can impart instruction in that manner which will make the pupils rapid thinkers and accurate accountants. They must understand the methods of teaching and apply the methods to those under their care. No one form of teaching can be followed; there are as many forms as there are temperaments, and that one who is quick to grasp the situation will send out such a magnetic power over the pupils that disorder will not be known. You have no doubt been told that certain persons have a special talent as an instructor. Do not let these reflections interfere with your choice in the teacher's profession, for it is generally conceded that those who are foremost in the teacher's profession would be foremost in any other profession.

Let your aim be to be first, be quick, be ready! be active! and success will follow. Seek thorough education, take advantage of every opportunity offered, it is the weapon of wartare in life with which you can win every battle.

Immediately after the presentation of diplomas, the "Class Song' a beautiful selection, by Mozart, was rendered. The evening exercises were concluded with benediction.

INPORTANT LAND SUITS.

On Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, the case of the city of Philadelphia, Trustee under the will of Stephen Girard, against Benjamin Goodman, was called in court before Judge J. J. Metzger, of Lycoming county, specially presiding for Judge Ikeler. There appeared for the plaintiff, Hon. F. Carroll Brewster, of Philadelphia, ex-Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, Judge James Ryon and Samuel H. Kaercher, Esq., of Pottsville and Col. J. G. Freeze. Judge Elwell was also concerned for the plaintiff as advisory counsel, but was unable to appear in court. For the defendants appeared Hon. Geo. F. Baer, of Reading, Congressman S. P. Wolverton, of Sunbury, L. E. Waller and Geo. E. Elwell, Esqs. Hon. C. R. Buckalew was also concerned for defendant, but was absent from town. Heber S. Thompson, of Pottsville, agent of the Girard estate in Schuylkill and Columbia counties, was present in behalf of plaintiff, and R. M. Gummere, of Bethlehem, represented E. P. Wilbur, trustee, and others, the actual defendants, Benjamin Goodman being merely the tenant in possession, residing on the lands. Most of the evidence was documentary and all of Tuesday was occupied in presenting it. The land in controversy is located in Conyngham township, contains 400 acres, and has coal on it The title to the land was taken out of the commonwealth in 1784 by a survey to Thomas Hiltzheimer, and a patent was issued to Robert Morris, who with his wife conveyed the same to John Nicholson. The plaintiff claimed title under a mortgage given by Nicholson to the officers of the Bank of the United States to secure his debts On this mortgage the property of Nicholson was sold and bought in by the Bank, among others, the Hiltzheimer tract, known as Blamont. The Bank sold to Stephen Girard, and he by his will gave it to the city of Philadelphia for Girard college.

The defendants also claimed under John Nicholson. He was Comptroller General of the state, and on the settlement of his accounts in 1786 it appeared that he was largely indebted to the state, and an act of assembly was passed to secure the state, and providing for the appointment of commissioners to sell the property of John Nicholson. Under this law the land was sold and among other tracts Blamont was sold to Philip Meyer, and the defendants show title by a long chain of deeds from him. The main question in the case was whether the sale on the Bank mortgage, or the sale by the commissioners, made the better title. The evidence closed on Wednesday morning, and the opening argument for the plaintiff was made by Judge Ryon who is considered one of the best land lawyers in the state. He was followed by Mr. Baer in a very able and eloquent argument for the defense, and Judge Brewster closed the case for the plaintiff in one of those very forcible and entertaining speeches for which he is so celebrated.

Judge Metzger charged the jury, and after going over all the points in the case, directed a verdict for the defendants.

In the case of City of Phila. trustee, against James Boucher, a verdict was taken by the same jury for the defendants, it having been previously agreed that the finding in the one case should rule both. A jury was called in the case of City of Philadelphia vs. George Roup, on Wednesday afternoon. This involves title to the Besely tract in Conyngham township. The same counsel were concerned as in the other cases, except that Mr. Waller was for the plaintiff and Col. Freeze for the defendants. The case is on trial as we go to press.

SOMETHING TO SHUN.

Though placid the waters may be
O'er which you so peacefully glide,
No cloud to o'ershadow the sea,
No tempest to ruffle the tide,
Keep ever a hand on the oar,
Nor think that with cares you have done,
Lest you in mid-ocean deplore
An error 'twas easy to shun.

No pathway to honor or fame
Is easy or smooth to the feet:
Who seek an illustrious name
Must toil through the cold and the heat
In order the prize to secure,
There's height after height to be won,
Disappointments and grief to endure,
Temptations and dangers to shun.

Too many a life has been wrecked
In seeking for pleasure alone,
As if there were nought to reject,
As if all time were its own.
Oh, into how many a snare
The heart's best beloved are won,
Though conscience has bade them beware
Of traps they are careless to shun!

The life we are living to-day
In Eden was only portrayed,
When over the flower-strewn way
The shadow of evil was laid.
And they who in blissful repose
Their poem of love had begun,
Were doomed to a conflict with foes
They had not the courage to shun.

Be careful of choosing your friends,
Nor walk in a dangerous way,
Since all of to-morrow depends
On how you have managed to-day
There's many a joy to be found,
There's many a prize to be won,
And wherever rich treasures abound
There's always more danger to shun

ONLY HUMAN NATURE.

BY T. R. THORNTON.

"It's a very singular thing," said Mr. Harry Leigh, "that no woman can listen to a word in praise of another without losing her temper."

"Can't she?" asked Mrs. Rosa Leigh, with the air of one desiring information.

"Well, you should know," her husband meaningly returned.

"Indeed! Why, pray?"

"You would like a case in point?"

"By all means."

"This morning, when I spoke of that pretty Mrs. Brown—"

"She isn't pretty," promptly interrupted Rosa.

"There—you see! I have convicted you without an effort."

"By telling a fib, Harry; you know perfectly well that Esther Brown is the homeliest woman in East Hill."

"Oh, well—I'll start again. Because I said that Mrs. Brown was well dressed, amiable, and a model housewife, you became furious—you must admit it."

"Nonsense! Don't exaggerate the case; I simply objected to your making ridiculous assertions. She is none of these things; she dresses vilely, is little better than a shrew, and as for her housekeeping—well, you should peep into the corners!"

Mrs. Leigh looked triumphant, evidently thinking she had proved her case. Harry laughed uproariously.

"Shall I begin again, Rosie?" he asked.

"How absurd you are!" she pettishly exclaimed, realizing she was caught. "If you must laud other women, don't choose the most ordinary one of my acquaintance. I'm sure I'm always delighted when you praise Fanny Deane, or Mary Jennings,, or Prue Fox, or—"

"Or a dozen more of your cronies, that I know nothing about."

"You know Fanny well enough."

"Not half as well as I wish I did. She's really a very charming girl," declared Harry.

"Is she not?" Rosa enthusiastically exclaimed.

"And so pretty!"

"Oh, do you think so? Well, opinions differ as to that; but every one admits she is as good as gold."

"And as brilliant, judging from her talk."

"Oh, yes, dear Fanny says very bright things—sometimes." Mrs. Leigh returned rather doubtfully.

"It seems to me I never saw more beautiful eyes," said Mr. Leigh, after a short pause.

"Why, Harry! Fanny's eyes are her weak point! She admits it herself!" cried Rosa, flushing.

"That's because she is so modest and retiring."

Mrs. Leigh laughed in great apparent merriment.

"Don't be sarcastic, dear," she said in a tone of gentle reproof. "You can't expect a woman who speaks so well in public to be overburdened with modesty. Fanny has lots of other good qualities to make up for that lack."

But Harry was laughing more heartily than before.

"Oh, Rosie, what a little fraud you are!" he exclaimed. "Don't you see I've caught you again? Your friend is everything except what I say she is, it seems."

"Well," said Rosa, pouting, "I don't think it's nice for a man to praise other women in the presence of his own wife, anyway! It seems as if he made uncomfortable comparisons. You wouldn't like it if I were to gush over Jones, Brown and Robinson."

"Nonesone! I shouldn't mind it at all. Men are above trifles of that sort," said Harry, loftily.

"Really!" Rosa laughed a little at his grand air. "Nevertheless, I'm disposed to try you some day, when you are off guard."

"Do. I'll wager a dollar to a kiss that I'll come out all right."

"Done!" cried Mrs. Leigh.

* * * * * * *

"Harry, dear, I wish you'd take me to the Star Theatre to-night," said Rosa, in her prettiest manner.

"Why, what's the particular attraction there?" asked her husband.

"Young Hansum as Claude Melnotte."

"Thank you—that's enough for me," he answered brusquely.

"Oh, Harry! He's perfectly splendid in it! I've seen him twice already, and am just dying to see him again."

"For heaven's sake, don't talk like a matinee girl, Rosa! What women see in that fellow passes my comprehension."

"What don't they see, you ought to say! He's handsome."

"Handsome! Come, I like that! A fellow with red hair and a stoop handsome! You should see him in the street."

"I have, and he's just as charming there as he is on the stage. His hair is golden, and such a lot of it!"

"Humph! Wigs are cheap."

"Then he is so talented!"

"Talented! Shades of Fechter, she calls that mouthing idiot talented! Why, I could play Claude Melnotte better myself."

"And he paints, too," persisted Rosa, "and plays on the violin, and sings—"

"Sings! Ha! ha! Call that bellow singing? Really, Rosa, you're losing what little taste you ever had!" Leigh savagely exclaimed.

"At least you will admit that he dresses well," said Mrs. Leigh, demurely. "They say he sets the fashion."

"They say! How I hate that term! They say everything but their prayers, nowadays."

"That reminds me that he says his," asserted Rosa. "And he goes to church every Sunday."

"Religious, too! Well, well! What else? Go on, pray—I'd like to see how far your imagination will carry you, madam!" cried madam's husband, with a withering glance.

"Oh, that's about all," Rosa calmly answered, "except that he's considered a wit."

Ho! ho! Ha! ha! Well, really! I must tell that at the club! Hansum a wit! Why, everyone knows his valet teaches him his parts!" Mr. Leigh bounced from the table and into his overcoat. "I had no idea you possessed so little sense, Mrs. Leigh!"

"And you won't take me to the theater to-night?" Rosa said in an aggrieved tone.

"I'm hanged if I will! A woman who wants to see a man like that act had better try a Punch and Judy show!" Leigh cried, dashing from the room.

A silvery laugh followed him, "Harry! Harry, dear!" and Rosa's pretty face peeped from the parlor door.

"Well?" he growled, softened in spite of himself at the sight of it.

"Hadn't you better leave me that dollar, dear? Then I can go to the matinee, you know."

Her eyes were brimming with merriment.

"What dollar?" he growled. Then he caught her look and a light broke in upon him. "Done, by Jove!" he exclaimed, as he beat an inglorious retreat.

That night Mr. and Mrs. Leigh attended the theater.

Colors of the German Flag.

Two well dressed women stood among the throng at the ribbon counter in one of the large dry goods stores a few days ago, and having at length obtained the services of a clerk one of them said,—

"I want to buy some narrow ribbons for favors, but I must have the colors of the German flag, and strangely enough neither my friend nor I can recall them. Do you remember what they are?"

"I do not," said the girl, politely, impressed apparently by the international character of her customers, "but the other young lady at this counter may know."

"The other young lady" said she thought the colors were black and yellow.

"I am sure that isn't right," remarked an old customer who was sitting on the third stool down the counter.

"Possibly the floorwalker would know," suggested the clerk. "Ca-s-h! Ask Mr. Fitzhugh to come here."

That functionary having arrived the matter was duly referred to him.

"There are three colors," he declared, "black, red and yellow."

"Are you sure?" asked the two shoppers earnestly. "We cannot make a mistake."

"I am almost sure that is wrong," interposed a young woman near by, who had overheard the controversy. "My husband is a German, and I never heard of yellow in the German flag."

"Possibly it might be buff," conceded the floorwalker.

"I used to teach school in Indiana," remarked a tall woman with a cat-skin muff, "and I can settle this question. The colors in the German flag are red, white and yellow."

This seemed authoritative, but somehow the various contestants didn't appear satisfied.

"There's Schwartz, the floorwalker in the cotton department," suggested the stately Fitshugh; "he's a German himself; he'll know. Cash, go and ask Mr. Schwartz to write the colors of the German flag on this card."

The Indiana school teacher did not look pleased, but the matter having gone to the court of appeals she rested her case, and the cash girl was back in a minute with the card. On it were written the words, "black, red and white."

"That settles it. Thank you so much," said the two feminine shoppers, gratefully, looking apprehensively at the listening throng. "How much is this narrow ribbon, please?"

"Twenty-two cents a piece of ten yards," replied the girl, expectantly.

"Well, we need only a little. Give me a yard of each color. How much will that be?"

"Seven cents," murmured the clerk, staggered for a moment by the magnitude of the order after the trouble in obtaining it.

The "other young lady" and the Indiana school teacher tittered audibly, but there was no sign of a smile on the clerk's face as she drawled,—

"Shall I have the package sent up to your house, ma'am?"

Strange Effects of Diving.

An Australian pearl-diver, recounting his experiences, says that one of the strange effects of diving is the invariable bad temper felt while working at the bottom of the sea; and as this usually passes away as soon as the surface is reached, it may be supposed to be due to the pressure of air inside the dress, affecting the lungs, and through them the brain. A diver often becomes so angry at some imaginary wrong-doing on the part of those in the boat above that he gives the signal to be pulled up, "with the intention of knocking the heads off the entire crew"—only to forget what he came up for when the surface is reached.

BERWICK AND VICINITY.

The roads back of Evansville are in a lamentable condition. The tax payers along these roads should see to it that their tax money do them good, and not have it diverted on the river road and the one paralled to it. It is unblushing robbery. Might as well stick one's hand into another's pocket and run away with his purse. It is simply this We wonder that the people along these roads have not protested long ago against such robbery and injustice. They are not created just to keep other roads in fine condition while their own are almost impassible.

Just above Bear's Gap 5 miles north west of Berwick there are two sand springs that throw up the finest silver sand; and around them are evidences of coal cropping out of the ground and iron ore.

The supper afterwards at the St. Charles was excellent.

I AM an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease.—Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Att'y, Washington, D. C.

I SUFFERED for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which Ely's Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I., N. Y.

The Parisian Fashion Journals.

"La Mode de Paris" and "Album des Modes," so well-known as the publications giving the choicest Paris styles one month in advance of all other journals, appear to be growing just a little too popular. The demand for them is growing so rapidly that the publishers, A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York, have found it difficult to keep up with the increasing demand each month. They claim that the American ladies are now buying their journals to such an extent that most of the newsdealers are entirely out of them by the fifth of the month. As all the plates are made in Paris by the best artists, the publishers claim that it requires considerable time to catch up with such an increased demand. We agree with our lady friends that these are superior fashion journals. We suggest to them to become regular subscribers, thus making sure of receiving their journal each month, and securing that valuable book, "Dressmaking Simplified," that is given as a premium to each subscriber paying $3.50 in advance for either "La Mode de Paris" or "Album des Modes" for one year. You may place the order through your news agent, or send direct to the publishers.

SPECIALIST,

In the treatment of Chronic Diseases solicits Chronic, Obstinate cases who have obtained no relief elsewhere, and confines his practice to such cases only as are so clearly and fully developed as to make complete and positive Diagnosis without Questioning or allowing patients to make a statement of their condition. WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, May 9, 1892.

The anti- Harrison republicans are jubilant over what they say is the certainty that Mr. Harrison cannot be nominated at Minneapolis. They point exultingly to the nearly six hundred uninstructed delegates, and sneer at the fact that only four States that the republicans have any reasonable hope of carrying—Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, and South Dakota—have instructed for Harrison, and some of them do not hesitate to say that the majority of the rest of the instructed delegates, all from the south, could easily be taken away from Mr. Harrison by cash purchase, if it were necessary to do so to defeat him.

Quay. Platt, Reed and a large number of the most influential republican bosses met here to congratulate themselves on the result detailed in the election of delegates to the Minneapolis convention, and, what is more important to them, to agree upon the ticket to be nominated. The meeting was, of course, a secret one, but it is whispered that it was partieularly agreed to hold out hopes to Sherman, McKinley. Alger, Depew and other dark horses until the last minute, in order to keep them and their personal followers from going into the Harrison camp, and that when the convention meets, Blaine and Rusk are to be sprung upon it with a rush and enthusiastically pushed through before the friends of other candidates have an opportunity to pull their wits together.

Mr. Harrison is reported to be contemplating a withdrawal in favor of Senator Cullom. In fact it said that he told Senator Cullon before the Illinois convention was held that he would do so, as soon as it became apparent that he could not be nominated on the first ballot, and that it was that promise that caused Cullom to get the convention to instruct for Harrison.

Having compelled the Department of Justice to begin legal proceedings against the sugar trust, the House will now do the same for the National Cordage company, the trust which controls binding twine, by adopting a resolution offered by Representative Scott, of Illinois, the same gentleman who introduced the sugar trust resolution, which the House passed last week. It may be that the Sherman anti trust law, which was enacted by the billion dollar Congress, is entirely worthless, as was charged by democrats when it was passed—there are reasons for believing that it was intended to be—but that makes the House all the more anxious to see it put to a practical test. If it fails, the House will pass a bill that will not fail, and leave the responsibility for its becoming a law with the trust-loving republican majority in the Senate and the republican President.

Representative Bailey, who is member of the House sub-committee engaged in investigating the affairs of the Yellowstone Park Association, thinks Mr. Russell Harrison may find himself in an unpleasant position before the investigation is over, owing to his readiness to loan his "influence".

The House committee on Post Offices has agreed to report favorably a bill appropriating $100,000 for the extension of free mail delivery in agricultural districts, and providing for the issue of fractional postal notes.

Again the old cry that Secretary Noble has informed Mr. Harrison that Raum must go, or he would leave the Cabinet. This may or may not be true, but, if the charge be true that Raum wrote, without Noble's knowledge, the letter declining to furnish the Pension Office investigating committee with the papers relating to the discharge of certain special pension examiners, and Noble says he did, it would certainly be about what any self-respecting man would do under similar circumstances. The committee through the chairman, Representative Wheeler, ask for these papers and Mr. Raum wrote a letter stating that he had been directed by Secretary Noble to decline furnishing them. Now, Secretary Noble says he knew nothing about such a request being made, and that the committee can have the papers or any others on file that they may wish to see. It was well for Secretary Noble that he took so sensible a view of the measures by reporting a resolution concerning the refusal to the House, which might have resulted in impeachment proceedings against the Secretary of the Interior.

The thousands of pamphlet copies of Henry George's "Free Trade or Protection", which was recently published in the Congressional Record, that are being distributed through out the country, are being sent out by individual Representatives, and not by the Democratic Congressional campaign committee.

The silver democrats in the House expect to be able to secure the signatures of a majority of the democrats to a petition asking that a new date be set to vote upon the free coinage bill and that a rule against fillibustering be reported, indeed they claim to already have a sufficient number of signers.

It is now stated that the new daily in Scranton, about which there has been so much talk of late. will materialize soon, and that it is to be a lively penny afternoon journal, with Colonel J. A. Price, Terence V. Powderly and other well-known men back of it.

BLAINE'S CONDITION.

RUSSELL HARRISON DECLARES HIM BROKEN PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY.

"Mr. Blaine's condition," he (Russell Harrison) said, "is such that all talk of his nomination, even if he should become a candidate, is out of the question. He is completely broken down, both mentally and physically.

"He cannot remember the simplest things, and all of the work of the State Department has been on my father's shoulders for over two years. It is simply absurd to talk of nominating Mr. Blaine.

"He can scarcely more than sign his name to documents requiring his signature, and rarely, if ever, reads any of them. He is almost as helpless as a child."—World.

The State democratic Convention of Connecticut was held Tuesday May 10th. The delegates-at-large to the National Convention were uninstructed, but the name of Cleveland was cheered to the echo. The delegates from Connecticut can go to Chicago, ready to cast their vote for the most available candidate, and return home with the assurance that the six electoral votes will be in the democratic column when the votes are counted in November.

An exchange says that the Supreme Court has decided that bicycle riders are not entitled to the sidewalks in cities and towns. A pedestrian was run into by a wheelman, both being on the sidewalk. The former sued for damages and won his suit, the court holding that the rider had no business on the sidewalk.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held Thursday night, May 5th, all the members present.

A petition was read feom Wm. Cummings asking for a sewer from Whitman's alley eastwardly about 60 feet on Third. After considerable discussion the President was authorized to consult with the Town Engineer in regard to the advisability of purchasing the private sewer of Mrs. Finney instead or laying a new one, and to report at the next meeting.

The following building permits were granted:

To Wm. Cummings for a dwelling house on Third street. To J. W. Johh for a dwelling house on Fourth street.

To J. L. Dillon for a Greenhouse on Fifth street.

To W. C. Bryfogle & Bro. for a building on the east side of Market street near the square.

It appearing that a large number of ordinances have been passed since the publication of the last pamphlet, the Secretary and President were upon motion authorized to have all the ordinances printed in book form.

C. W. Miller, Esq, appeared before the Counsel and presented petitions for exonerations from the payment of town taxes for ten years on the following industries:

Suber's patent rolling bearer Company, Axle Works and Steel Plant.

Ice Manufacturing Co. and Mears & Co. Wash Machine Works. Upon motion the first mentioned plant was exempted with the understanding that they erect or cause to be erected two fire hydrants located at a convenient place with respect to other buildings and that they keep the same constantly supplied with water at their own expense and in case of fire the town to have the right to use them free of charge.

On the application of Mears & Co. for exemption a yea and nay vote was called and resulted as follows: Peacock, Gorrey and Holmes, yea, Kramer, Gilmore and Drinker, nay; Rhoads not voting lost. Application refused.

The agreement of E B. Brower donating the land for the opening of Penn street providing the grading was done by Sept. 1st, 1892, read and accepted, and the solicitor read an ordinance that he had prepared declaring the same a public highway. On motion it was accepted and the ordinance ordered published.

Grant Herring desired the Council to do some cobbling on the Lightstreet road in the rear of his lot; George Robbins desired a crossing near his residence; Mrs. Hagenbuch reported the street near her home and leading to Dillon's Greenhouse as being in a bad condition; and William Chrisman wanted the Council to open and declare a public highway an alley near his residence, he to donate the land and pave the same. All these matters were referred to the Committee on Highways.

Friendship Fire Co. requested permission to use Oak Grove on the evening of May 30th for holding a dance. Granted.

The New Ballot Law.

The Secretary of State has addressed a letter to the County Commissioners of the State requesting that they call the particular attention of the Chairmen of County Committees, and of others who may be in a position to give information upon the subject, to the importance of exercising great care in the matter of certifying nominations to County Commissioners and township auditors. The letter states that the certifications of some nominations of Legislative candidates already made, discloses the fact that sufficient care has not been taken by those whose duty it has been to certify such nominations. If errors in certificates are not avoided, confusion and trouble will ensue. Instructions sent by the County Commissioners to the chairmen of county committees, and others connected with political organizations, will be of great benefit in preventing errors in certifications.

It is announced that the passenger train employees on the Lehigh Valley Railroad have received orders to procure summer uniforms and new caps of the Philadelphia and Reading pattern, and den the same May 15th. The caps are slightly different in shape from those now worn on the Lehigh Valley and the coat is longer. The P. & R. buttons will take the place of the Lehigh Valley.

Premature gray whiskers should be colored to prevent the appearance of age, and Buckingham's Dye is by far the best preparation to do it.

From the list of States that have thus far held republican conventions, less than one-half of them have instructed their delegates to support for a second term the present incumbent. It looks as if the republicans had no more love for Benjamin Harrison than they had for R. B. Hayes.

We wish again to repeat that every indication points to the nomination and election of Grover Cleveland.

The subscribers to the stock of the new steel works held a meeting on Tuesday evening at the office of White & Yost and effected a temporary organization for the collection of stock subscriptions, &c. A charter will soon be obtained.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

Every garment we sell is of our own manufacture. No other retail clothier in Philadelphia can truthfully say the same. We have often published this fact and our competitors dare not deny it. Some of them manufacture part of the goods they sell. Can you tell which part of their stock has two profits marked on it?

Rather risky—the offer that's made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Risky for them. For you, if you have Catarrh, it's a certainty. You're certain to be cured of it, or to be paid $500. That's what they offer, and in good faith—they cure you, or pay you, no matter how bad your case, or of how long standing.

But—is it so much of a risk? They have a medicine that cures Catarrh, not for a time, but for all time. They've watched it for years, curing the most hopeless cases. They know that in your case there's every chance of success, almost no chance of failure.

Wouldn't any one take such a risk with such a medicine?

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk?

If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist fifty cents and the trial begins.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Com. vs. Charles Pennypacker, assault and battery. Case tried, verdict not guilty, county pay costs.

Com. vs. S. K. Heller, defendant pleads guilty to second count, and nol pros allowed as to other counts.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. S. K. Heller and A. P. Breihof for Gambling and keeping gambling places, both plead guilty to the indictments and the court pronounced sentence as follows:

Augusuts P. Breihof. The grand jury have recommended you to the mercy of the court. Their reasons, of course, do not appear; but there is enough upon the record before us to warrant our conjecture that it is because of your readiness to assist in the investigation of other like cases.

For all offenses enumerated in the act of assembly punishing crimes of this character, the penalty is both imprisonment and fine (within certain limits) at the discretion of the Court. Under the law, we are obliged to impose both a fine and some term of imprisonment. Under all the circumstances of your case, the sentence of the court is: That you Augustus P. Breihof, pay to the commonwealth the costs of prosecution and a fine (for the use of the Columbia county Law Library) of twenty-five dollars; and that you undergo imprisonment in the county jail of Columbia county for the period of one hour—the shortest term allowed by law—and that you stand committed until this sentence is complied with.

Samuel K. Heller: You have also pleaded guilty of allowing or permitting or suffering persons to gamble at your place of business—play games of chance for money or other valuable things. There is no recommendation from the grand jury in your behalf; but counsel and others think that you are not an exception to the rule in the town of Berwick and in other places.

To us it seems singular that our constables and peacemakers do not report cases of this kind, if they exist to any extent or are very numerous; and it seems remarkable that your case should be searched out and sent here, almost alone, while gaming and cock fighting and the like violations of law are spoken of in the public prints of the county as taking place with the full knowledge and view of the public generally. We have been looking and expecting to hear from peace-officers in reference to crimes of this sort, but your case is among the first brought to our attention.

An appeal has been made to the court on your behalf for mercy, and we cannot help feeling, from our knowledge of you and of the circumstances surrounding your case; that the appeal is entitled to consideration; nevertheless the sentence of the court should be one that will not only punish you but deter others from continuing the practice of gambling or of allowing gambling on their premises. It is a practice very demoralizing to the community: it produces nothing, and somebody invariably loses; it leads to ruin and disgrace, and does the country no good. We hope that the penalty inflicted upon you will be a warning to others. We know you to be a respectable person; reputed to be a good, enterprising and useful citizen. We know you to be able to pay a fine, and we believe, that, on account of your good name and the welfare of your family, you would prefer to pay a heavy fine rather than to suffer a long imprisonment; and we think that it would be better for you and for your family and for all concerned, and that the ends of justice will so be better served.

The sentence of the Court, therefore, is: That you, Samuel K. Heller, pay to the Commonwealth the costs of prosecution and a fine (for the use of the Columbia county Law Library) of two hundred dollars, and that you undergo imprisonment in the county jail of Columbia county for the period of one hour, and that you stand committed until this sentence is complied with.

Com. vs. Hiram S. Williams, gambling, a true bill.

Report of grand jury filed.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

To the Honorable Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Columbia County:

The grand inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring in and for the body of said county, respectfully report: That we have, pursuant to our required duties, investigated all bills of indictment presented for our consideration, and have passed upon them according to their respective merits We have also examined the Public Buildings, and find them in good condition, except as follows: We find the cellars of the dwelling part of the jail in a damp, unhealthful condition. We recommend that the hallway in the basement of the old portion of the Court House be wainscoted and painted to correspond with the hallway in the new portion. We recommend, further, that the vault formerly used by the Commissioners be placed under the charge of the Register and Recorder, to be used by him as an Annex. We recommend, finally, that the janitor of the Court House be instructed to put the court room and jury rooms in more tidy condition for the sittings of future courts.

Would you rather buy lamp-chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Common glass may break or not the minute you light your lamp; if not, the first draft may break it; if not, it may break from a mere whim.

Tough glass chimneys, Macbeth's "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost?

Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

How Storms Travel.

The storms that cross our country are divided into two classes, one in which there is a deficiency of pressure, known as "low," the storm center being a vacuum, or the place where the atmospheric pressure is least, and the winds blow spirally inward and upward toward the center, with a motion opposite to the movement of the hands of a watch, and are generally attended by warm, moist air. They travel across the country at an average rate of about six hundred miles in twenty four hours. It occasionally occurs that their speed is greatly accelerated. Especially is it great when the major, or longest, axis (which is determined by the shape of the isobars) extends east and west, and their radius is confined to narrow limits. In such cases the wind often exceeds a velocity of fifteen hundred miles in twenty-four hours, and the rain or snow which falls is caused by the warm, moist air ascending to a considerable height, where the moisture is condensed by the cold expansion, and the precipitation over the entire track becomes unusually heavy. Such storms, as a rule, follow the course of heaviest rainfall.—From "How the Weather is Forecast," in Demorest's Family Magazine for June.

We'll write it down till everybody sees it

Till everybody is sick of seeing it that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head, catarrhal headache, and "cold in the head." In perfect faith, its makers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., offers to pay $500 to any one suffering from chronic catarrh in the head whom they cannot cure.

Now if the conditions were reversed—if they asked you to pay $500 for a positive cure you might hesitate. Here are reputable men, with years of honorable dealing; thousands of dollars and a great name back of them and they say—"We can cure you because we've cured thousands of others like you—if we can't we will pay you $500 for the knowledge that there's one whom we can't cure."

They believe in themselves. Isn't it worth a trial. Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

"I Am So Tired"

Is a common exclamation at this season. There is a certain bracing effect in cold air which is lost when the weather grows warmer; and when Nature is renewing her youth, her admirers feel dull, sluggish and tired. This condition is owing mainly to the impure condition of the blood, and its failure to supply healthy tissue to the various organs of the body. It is remarkable how susceptible the system is to help to be derived from a good medicine at this season. Possessing just those purifying, building-up qualities which the body craves, Hood's Sarsaparilla soon overcomes that tired feeling, restores the appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, imparts vigorous health. Its thousands of friends as with one voice declare "It Makes the Weak Strong."

Sleeves are high on the shoulders, quite full around the arms, very long and elaborately trimmed at the wrists.

Not many physicians make great therapeutic discoveries. For the most part they content themselves with administering judiciously what is prescribed in the books. To Dr. J. C. Ayer, however, is due the credit of discovering that greatest of blood-purifiers—Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

They will visit this county every four weeks, thus saving their patients the trouble and expense of visiting the city, as they are the only physicians and surgeons in this country who carry their own Manikins, Dodels Miagrams, etc. to illustrate and make plain to all afflicted the cause and nature of their disease.

CHRONIC DISEASES.

The Doctors treat no acute diseases, but make an entire specialty of chronic and long standing diseases. Cases given up by other doctors and pronounced incurable, they most desire to see. The Doctors have treated over 15,000 cases in Ohio in the last twelve years, many of which had been given up as incurable, some to be blind, others deaf, and a large number of the invalids for life. But behold! now they See and hear, and many are started on the high road to health and recovery every day.

The doctors are surrounded with the largest collection of fine instruments ever imported to this country for examining and treating all chronic diseases of the HEAD, FACE, EYE, EAR, THROAT, HEART, LUNGS, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Skin, Brain and Nervous System, Cancers, Tumors, Piles, swellings Old Sores, Fits, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Sick Headache, Debility, Depression of Spirits, Diseases of Children, Hereditary Diseases, &c., and in fact, all long-standing and Chronic Diseases.

Diseases of Women, such as have baffled the skill of all other physicians and remedies, quickly cured. Cancers, tumors, fibroid and polypoid growths cured without the use of the knife or caustics. No cutting, no pain, no danger.

A WORD ABOUT CATARRH.

It is in the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insiduously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient and all alleviaties are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. The Drs. have by a treatment local and constitutional, made the cure of this dread disease a certainty, and has never failed. Even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions hearing, smell and taste have been removed, and the disease thoroughly averted.

They recognize the great principal that genius or talent, or exceptional skill in and profession, is a great public trust to be executed for the greatest good for the greatest number, hence they call your attention to the fact of their visit to your community, and to what you may expect from their treatment. The Doctors have devoted years to the study and treatment of

Chronic and Complicated Diseases

Which other physicians failed to treat successfully. Those delicate functions of the human frame, whose derangements have for centuries defied human skill, have in many cases yielded to the patient investigation and untiring perseverance of these doctors, and thousands of sufferers from diseases heretofore pronounced incurable, have consulted these gentlemen and been by them restored to health and usefulness

COLUMBUS DAY, OCT. 12.

A Message to the Public Schools of America.

LOCAL OBSERVANCES SUGGESTED.

The Day Should Be Signalized in Every Town and Village in the Republic by a Local Celebration of Which the Public School Is the Center.

To the scholars of the public schools of the United States the executive committee of the Columbian public school celebration sends the following message:

The 12th of October, 1892, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, ought to be observed everywhere in America.

The day will be marked in Chicago by the dedication of the Columbian exposition grounds. The day also may be signalized in every town and village in the republic by a local celebration of which the public school is the center.

The public schools of the republic will form the most fitting centers for all these local celebrations. A national public school observance simultaneous with the Chicago exercises will awaken a popular interest in the coming exposition. Far more important is the fact that the public school has the right to occupy the most prominent place in the celebration. The public school is the one characteristic institution which links all the neighborhoods together, and can thus furnish a common bond for a national celebration. The public school is the ripe fruit of the four centuries of American civilization. The public school of today sways the hundred years to come.

How It Came About.

The first approval of this suggestion came from the public school scholars themselves. When the plan was first proposed by The Youth's Companion, January, 1891, thousands of letters were received, testifying to the enthusiasm with which the scholars responded.

The world's congress auxiliary of the Columbian exposition then took up the proposal, calling upon all the people of the republic to observe the day in their own localities, and suggesting that the public schools be everywhere the centers of the celebration.

The superintendents of education were the next to recognize the fitness of giving to the public schools the first place in this Columbian anniversary. At their national convention in Brooklyn in February, 1892, they took charge of the movement, and appointed the undersigned an executive committee to lead the schools in their commemoration.

Appeal to the Scholars.

This executive committee now appeals to the scholars themselves to be the first to move. It is for you, scholars of the American public schools, to arouse a sentiment in your schools and in your neighborhoods for this grand way of celebrating the finding of America. Educators and teachers will meet you from their side. But it is for you to begin.

There are 13,000,000 now in the public schools. You have the chance to conduct a patriotic movement which will have a place in history, and will strengthen the republic through the coming century.

What to Do.

The first thing to do is to determine, when you read this message, that you will do all you can to induce your school to enter the celebration. Then show this message to your teachers; every patriotic teacher will be glad to help you if you show yourselves in earnest. Take the message to the school committee and the superintendent—their consent and aid are indispensable.

After you secure the support of all these, then let the school vote that it will enter the celebration.

The next thing after this public vote will be the appointment of a strong committee made up jointly from citizens, scholars and teachers to take charge. The committee should in all cases consist of those most in earnest, so that the work may not be checked by any possible change of teachers during the summer.

The Programme.

A programme of exercises will be furnished by the executive committee. It will be simple and adapted to any school, yet so arranged that more elaborate exercises may be added wherever desired. The aim of this official programme will be that certain leading exercises may be the same in every school in the republic, and that at least in one feature the Chicago programme and the school programme may be identical.

In due time this executive committee will make further suggestions.

The Local Committee.

The duty of your committee will first be to interest the citizens and to prepare the school. Precessions may be arranged. The veterans, both north and south, will gladly be escorts for the schools. The other military, civic and religious organizations of each town will lend their aid if they see that the schools are determined that the celebration shall be worthy of the day. The local press will be the most valuable of all supports.

On Oct. 12 the stars and stripes should be floating from every school house in the republic.

It is the hope of the friends of common school education that not one public school in the United States will allow itself to be left out in this most memorable celebration.

Executive Committee.

Francis Bellamy, chairman, representing Youth's Companion, Boston.

John W. Dickinson, secretary of Massachusetts board of education.

Thomas B. Stockwell, commissioner of public schools of Rhode Island.

W. R. Garrett, superintendent of public instruction of Tennessee.

W. C. Hewitt, superintendent of Michigan educational exhibit at World's fair.

THE SHIPS OF COLUMBUS.

A Description of the Great Discoverer's Little Squadron.

The approach of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America cannot fail to awaken a reverence for the Genoese mariner whose intrepid daring and enthusiasm changed the destiny of mankind.

Columbus was by profession a sailor, and his great maritime knowledge won for him the command of many ships. During his numerous voyages he formed his purpose of sailing westward to find a nearer way to India. It was at the little Spanish port of Palos that Columbus prepared the expedition for which Ferdinand and Isabella had supplied the means.

Of his three ships the Santa Maria, the flagship of the little squadron, was the largest, the Pinta and Nina being of about equal size. Columbus chose three small ships rather than one large vessel, with the hope that out of the three one at least would weather the stormy passage and live to return.

They were designed and constructed upon a model of the old type of craft known as the caravel, which included in its class all vessels from 50 to 100 tons, with or without decks.

The Santa Maria was no larger than the little schooners engaged in fishing on the Great Banks, or about equal in tonnage to the stanch pilot boats which cruise along our coast in all weathers. This vessel upon which Columbus sailed was eighty-five feet long, twenty-four feet wide and drew eight feet of water. Her bottom was made very flat, in order that she might be run upon the shore or sandy beach without undue strain to her timbers. Her extreme width was at the water line where the hull bulges out several feet beyond the upper structure at the deck. This form of "tumbling home," as it is termed in the vernacular of the sailor, is rarely seen in ships of modern design and construction, although this build can be seen in a modified degree in many of the old frigates now relegated to "ordinary" in our navy yards. Ancient shipbuilders held that bulging out the sides of a vessel prevented her rolling in a heavy sea, and accordingly her decks would not be exposed to to the sweep of heavy surges breaking close aboard.

The Santa Maria had but one deck. At the bow was a house called the forecastle, in which the petty officers slept and also a part of the crew. Across the stern of the ship was a second house called the after castle, above which ran a deck called the poop deck or quarter deck. A small watch tower was erected on the poop deck as the post of duty for the officer of the watch. The admiral of the fleet occupied the after cabin, the officers of high rank being permitted to share it with him, while the rest of the crew was quartered in the hold and in such parts of the ship as were not utilized for stowing provisions and ballast.

The after part of these ships towered many feet above the crest of the wave, and when running before heavy following seas the deckhouses were rarely swept by them, no matter how severe the gale before which the ship was driven.

The Pinta and Nina, sister ships of the squadron, were about seventy feet in length, the Nina, however, being a little smaller in tonnage than the Pinta. These vessels were not decked fore and aft like the Santa Maria, although each had deckhouses, or castles, at the bow and stern.

Today it would be a foolhardy venture to dispatch vessels without decks on a mission across a boisterous sea. Yet these ships were constructed so solidly of well seasoned oak timber, planked with fir and secured by heavy iron bolts, as to withstand the battle of the elements during that long and weary journey over the trackless Atlantic.

On account of these ships being built high at the ends and low amidships, high seas would often be taken upon the decks when sailing with a side wind, and to prevent this high stanchions or posts were inserted in the upper plank of the rails, to which screens of heavy canvas were laced, making a temporary bulwark, which proved to be very effective in keeping out the water. In the case of the two smaller ships heavy mats and large tarpaulins were stretched across the beams to keep the water from running into the holds and swamping them; the vessels of four centuries ago were not supplied with pumps.

The Santa Maria was rigged with four masts—the three foremost ones being fitted with yards or square rigged, while the after mast was supplied with lateen sails. A long bowsprit projected from her bow, but carried no jibs or head sails. No sails were carried aloft above the topsails.

During favorable winds a sail was set under the bowsprit reaching to the water, and known as the watersail or spritsail. This sail fell into disuse over two centuries ago.

The Pinta and Nina were caravels, but rigged exclusively with lateen sails. The former, however, was partially square rigged prior to sailing, and the latter was similarly changed before the fleet left the Canaries from Palos. Ships in the days of Columbus were supposed to make headway through the water only when the wind blew in a favorable direction. The idea of tacking against a head wind was entirely unknown to the mariners of the past, notwithstanding the fact that ships have been propelled by sail power alone for thousands of years. Yet in spite of all these obstacles and disadvantages we find in the logbook of the Santa Maria that a speed of seven knots an hour was not an unusual occurrence.

As it was customary to employ oars against contrary winds, the crews of the ships were necessarily larger in proportion to their size than in modern ships. No less than 120 men were employed to sail the ships of Columbus.

The officers were known as the patron or captain, watchman or first mate, a counselor or navigator, the master of the deck, a scribe or secretary who wrote the ship's log, a steward and a surgeon.

The rigging consisted entirely of hemp. Their anchor cables were hemp hawsers, each following the old rule of four times the mainmast in length. Each ship was supplied with a boat called a launch, which was always towed astern. Refractory sailors were punished by being placed in the launch for many days upon short allowances and exposed to the heat of the sun and heavy drenching of the waves.

Although the compass was known to the Arabs long before Columbus and by the Chinese as far back as the beginning of the Christian era, yet this instrument was in itself not sufficient to navigate a vessel over an unknown sea. The quadrant, an instrument known to Columbus as the astrolabe, was supplied to each ship; by its use in astronomical observations the ship's position upon the high seas with respect to the equator could be readily ascertained, and also errors existing in the compasses causing the ships to deviate from their true courses were found and the proper adjustments accordingly made.

Thus Columbus was able to embark and sail away with that feeling of self reliance which had won him success on all his previous expeditions. The little town of Palos, then the greatest seaport on the Mediterranean, never sent out a grander marine spectacle than when Columbus embarked and weighed anchor and stood boldly down the Rio Tinto to sea, followed closely in his wake by the Pinta and Nina. The lavish golden carvings which decorated these ships, the red and yellow standards of Spain, the gay streamers floating in the breeze from every mast and spar, these altogether presented to the cheering crowds gathered on the wharves, housetops and neighboring hills a picturesque sight. It was indeed the crowning spectacle of the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella.

A MEMORABLE ANNIVERSARY.

October 12 Unites Four Centuries of American Life.

October 12 will have a prominent place in history. It not only unites the four centuries of American life that are closing with the centuries that are before us, but it will be made memorable by a great national celebration. The signal for this demonstration will be the dedication of the World's Columbian exposition grounds in Chicago.

On that day our foremost American institution—the public school—will be the center of local celebrations in the cities and towns from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

By linking together all these local celebrations as parts of a systematic national demoustration the full significance of the day will be brought out.

The object for this movement for a national celebration is not only to interest the youth of the country in the World's Columbian exposition, but also to give to the American public school a fitting prominence as the fruit of four centuries of American life.

Both the World's congress commission of the Columbian exposition and the American superintendents of education have requested that the public schools of each city and town lead in the local celebration. These two bodies have also appointed a joint executive committee to direct the movement and to prepare a uniform and fitting programme for universal use.

Every wideawake boy and girl in our land has read or will read the message issued by the Columbian public school celebration commission with keen interest. It speaks a vigorous word to every one of the several million pupils in our public schools. How far the spirit of this message is carried out depends upon each individual boy and girl. We believe they will respond to it promptly and enthusiastically. They are too thoroughly imbued with the true spirit of American loyalty and patriotism to permit such an opportunity to be lost. They will enter into the spirit of this important event with characteristic American energy and determination.

It is an inspiring thought that on Oct. 12 all the loyal sons and daughters of our land will be united by one common purpose of such lofty conception. We believe that the pupils in our public schools will prove as enterprising and intelligently patriotic as those of any city or town in America. Don't wait until the eleventh hour. If our schools are to attempt to be the center of a local celebration which shall be worthy of the day there is none too much time for preparation. Let the schools begin at once. Teachers and scholars should make common cause.

Time works no changes with Patti, they say. With the managers it is different, for at Covert Garden thirty years ago she was paid $500 a month; now it is $4,000 a night and a share of the receipts beside.

Queen Natalie of Servia is trying to find a publisher for her memoirs, which will contain the story of her divorce. The authorities of Berlin and Vienna refused to allow her to print the book in those capitals.

Tennessee has six surviving ex-governors, all of whom still reside in that State. The oldest and most noted of these is Senator Isham G. Harris, who has been in office nearly sixty years, thirty of which have been passed in the Senate.

Ex-Queen Isabella of Spain receives $150,000 per annum, which is very far from covering her expenses, and she is invariably head over ears in debt, so much so, indeed, that she has frequently been placed in the most embarrassing situations.

Louis Kossuth recently wrote to some compatriots, who were indulging in a commemorative banquet, and stated in the missive that he is practically as strong and vigorous as ever, except for an occasional failure of his eyesight. He is ninety years old.

M. Ribet, the French statesman, ascribes a large share of his success to the sagacious encouragement he has received from his wife, who was formerly Miss Burch, daughter of a Chicago banker. The Chicago girl has long been proverbial for her understanding.

The fortune of the Duchess of Montpensier, estimated to exceed $30,000,000, will upon her death go to her daughter, Countess of Paris. Her only son, Don Antonia, whom she cordially dislikes, will get as little of her wealth as will her eldest sister, ex-Queen Isabella.

Mrs. Coleman Drayton, when she was Miss Gussie Astor, was so noted among her friends for the marked simplicity of her manners and the engaging candor of her life that a portrait of her, pressing a milk-white dove to her bosom, was circulated among her friends with the title "Innocence" beneath it.

Judge Emery, of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, was given a pair of white kid gloves not long ago by the grand jury of Franklin county as an emblem of the county's irreproachable morals. The judge had to dismiss the jury from service because there were no indictments to be acted upon at the term for which the jurors were drawn.

Empress Eugenie felt so acutely the complete absence of recognition which she experienced when walking about Paris last year that she has declined to stay there on her way to Cape Martin, though much pressed to do so. Princess Mathilde met her at Gare du Nord, and while waiting for a train they dined like ordinary passengers in the refreshment-room, quite unnoticed by the rest of the inmates. The empress is looking stronger than she has for some years.

The oldest inhabitant of Southern Indiana is Alexander Hockaday of Blue River township. He was born in what is now the State of Kentucky, in 1780, and consequently is in his 112th year. He is the father of twelve children, and his wife, who is thirty years his junior, is still living. Mr. Hockaday never took but one dose of medicine in his life, and did not take that until he was more than one hundred years old. He is hale and hearty and bids fair to live several years yet.

SUBJECTS FOR THOUGHT.

Dressing conspicuously is a confession of inferiority.

If I wanted to punish an enemy I would fasten on him the torture of continually hating some one.

Since I cannot govern my tongue, though within my own teeth, how can I hope to govern the tongues of others?

Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with for a year, and you will never be forgotten.

Mankind worships success, but thinks too little of the means by which it is attained—what days and nights of watching and weariness; how year after year has dragged on, and seen the end still far off; all that counts for little if the long struggle does not close in victory.

Activity is life, stagnation is death. Keep yourself actively occupied if you want to be healthy; husband your means if you want to become wealthy. Be liberal if you want to have friends; remember that friendship is often of far greater value than gold. To achieve great success, you must be courageous; a timid man is defeated at the very outset.

A person who has formed his temper and disposition of mind after a right model, who is humble, meek, cheerful and contented, can commonly find a convenient shelter when overtaken by the storms of life. It should therefore be our early lesson to subject the passions, appetites and desires to the control and guidance of reason. The first are the gales to impel us in the voyage of life, but the last ought to sit at the helm and direct our course.

Children Cry for

The Parcels-Post.

Postmasters may do something—perhaps, a great deal—to increase the postal revenues, by calling the attention of the patrons of their offices to the facilities offered by the Parcels Post System, for sending miscellaneous merchandise, at comparatively low rates, to a number of foreign countries with which the United States has frequent direct mail service, and whose peoples are disposed to establish friendly trade relations with this country.

Packages of merchandise may now be sent by mail to Mexico, the Republic of Columbia, and British Guiana, British Honduras, The Republic of Honduras, Salvador, and Costa Rica, Jamaica, Barbadoes, The Bahamas. The Leeward Islands (The Virgin Group, Saint Christopher, Nevis, Anguilla, Antigua, Barbuda, Montserrat, Dominica); The Windward Islands (Grenada, Grenadines, Saint Lucia, and Saint Vincent); The Danish West Indies (Saint Thomas, Saint Croix, and Saint John), The Hawaiian Kingdom (the Sandwich Islands).

Each separate parcel must not weigh more than eleven pounds; and must not measure, if for Colombia, Costa Rica and Mexico, more than two feet in length by four in girth; if for any of the other countries named, more than three feet six inches in length, nor more than six feet in length and girth combined.

Parcels must be well wrapped, and so secured as to permit easy examination of the contents by postal and customs officials.

Postage must be FULLY PREPAID on every parcel, at the rate of twelve cents per pound, or fraction of a pound.

A fair exertion of enterprise on the part of our manufacturers and merchants, would soon develop trade worth having, both for its extent and profits, in many articles, by making full use of the facilties afforded by this Parcels-Post Service. It is safe, speedy, and the most available convenient means for sending goods in the quantities allowed to the destinations named. In illustration of the use which has already been made of it, the fact is of record, that last summer a St. Louis establishment sent to Mexico the parts of a complete buggy, to fill an order from that country.—Postal Guide.

PUMPING FOR LIFE.

A Unique but Startling Cure for Laziness.

A traveller, in the course of a morning walk in Amsterdam, came upon a group gathered round a well, into which a strongly built man had just been let down. A pipe, whose mouth was at the top of the well, had been opened, and a stream of water from it was flowing into the well, and gradually filling it. The man below had quite enough to do, if he did not want to be drowned, to keep the water out by means of a pump that was at the bottom of the well.

The traveller, pitying the man, asked for an explanation of what seemed a cruel, heartless joke.

"Sir," replied an old man standing near, "that fellow is, as you see, healthy and strong. I have myself offered him work twenty times, but he always allows laziness to get the better of him, and will make any excuse to beg his bread from door to door, though he might easily earn it if he chose.

"We are now trying to make him realize that he must work. If he uses the strength that is in his arms, he will be saved; if he lets them hang idle, he will be drowned. But look," continued the old Dutchman, as he went to the edge of the well, "the fellow finds out that he has muscles already; in an hour we shall let him out with better resolutions for the future."

The traveller watched until the man was liberated from his watery prison, and felt sure that at least a temporary cure had been effected.—Youth's Companion.

IT PAYS

To be cautious in the choice of medicines. Many are injured by trying experiments with compounds purporting to be blood-purifiers, the principal recommendation of which would seem to be their "cheapness." Being made up of worthless, though not always harmless, ingredients, they may well be "cheap;" but, in the end, they are dear. The most reliable medicines are costly, and can be retailed at moderate prices, only when the manufacturing chemist handles the raw materials in large quantities. It is economy, therefore,

To Use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the valuable components of which are imported, wholesale, by the J. C. Ayer Co. from the regions where these articles are richest in medicinal properties.

"It is a wonder to me that any other than Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a show in the market. If people consulted their own interest, they would never use any other; for it is not only the best, but, on account of its concentrated strength and purity, it is the most economical."—James F. Duffy, Druggist, Washington st., Providence, R. I.

Dr. A. L. Almond, Druggist, Liberty, Va., writes: "Leading physicians in this city prescribe Sarsaparilla. I have sold it for eighteen years, and have the highest regard for its healing qualities."

"Although the formula is known to the trade, there can be no successful imitation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Without having the enormous facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co., it is impossible for other parties to put together such valuable ingredients, at the low cost of Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

It stands at the head of all similar preparations."—Mark A. Jones, 50 years a druggist, 60 Cambridge st., E. Cambridge, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich. and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last winter she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. GREAT FLOODS IN THE WEST.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS OF PROPERTY DESTROYED.

PEORIA, Ill., May 7th.—The great marsh dike, fifteen miles long, and protecting a strip of bottom land about two miles wide, gave way at a point opposite Pekin last night. The crevasse is about 600 feet wide and is increasing rapidly.

As soon as the news of the break was received rescuing parties were organized at Pekin, and at the risk of losing their own lives several made a tour of the districts in boats. At midnight the entire district had been gone over and all the people had been rescued. They were very scantily attired and were taken to Pekin and temporarily cared for. Household goods of every kind are floating about the river and the inundated district. There was a large amount of live stock of all descriptions in the district and the loss from this source will be very great.

At Ottawa the list of unfortunates was added to by numbers of people driven from houses which escaped Thursday. Despite all efforts, the manufacturing district was totally covered by water. Ottawa will be helpless for a week at least.

Marseilles, La Salle and Peru are in an even more desperate condition. At Marseilles the river is steadily rising and is more and more dreaded as the levees weaken. There is little hope they will stand much longer, and every one in the district threatened have removed all property to high ground. At La Salle the situation is worse than it was last night, the water having advanced from two to three feet all around the city, and the manufactories, the water works, street railway and electric light plants are still under water.

The Illinois, Texas, Kankakee, and Vermillion Rivers have been from twenty to twenty-two feet above low water mark for eighty hours, while their currents have averaged fully fifteen miles per hour. This immense mass of water does not include one-tenth of the terrific fall of rain precipitated udon this area. Splendid farms in all of the counties of the valleys were turned into great frog ponds by the flood, and as the earth was already filled with water, these farms will remain submerged for perhaps a week. Between 2000 and 3000 acres of land along the river banks are also under many feet of water, and the prospect of farmers, both above and along the rivers and for miles in all directions are most discouraging. A half million to a million dollars will not cover the loss to farmers alone.

L. Bernhard is keeping abreast with the march of progress in this town by giving his residence on Fifth street a coat of paint.

Children Cry for

The Parcels-Post.

Postmasters may do something—perhaps, a great deal—to increase the postal revenues, by calling the attention of the patrons of their offices to the facilities offered by the Parcels Post System, for sending miscellaneous merchandise, at comparatively low rates, to a number of foreign countries with which the United States has frequent direct mail service, and whose peoples are disposed to establish friendly trade relations with this country.

Packages of merchandise may now be sent by mail to Mexico, the Republic of Columbia, and British Guiana, British Honduras, The Republic of Honduras, Salvador, and Costa Rica, Jamaica, Barbadoes, The Bahamas. The Leeward Islands (The Virgin Group, Saint Christopher, Nevis, Anguilla, Antigua, Barbuda, Montserrat, Dominica); The Windward Islands (Grenada, Grenadines, Saint Lucia, and Saint Vincent); The Danish West Indies (Saint Thomas, Saint Croix, and Saint John), The Hawaiian Kingdom (the Sandwich Islands).

Each separate parcel must not weigh more than eleven pounds; and must not measure, if for Colombia, Costa Rica and Mexico, more than two feet in length by four in girth; if for any of the other countries named, more than three feet six inches in length, nor more than six feet in length and girth combined.

Parcels must be well wrapped, and so secured as to permit easy examination of the contents by postal and customs officials.

Postage must be FULLY PREPAID on every parcel, at the rate of twelve cents per pound, or fraction of a pound.

A fair exertion of enterprise on the part of our manufacturers and merchants, would soon develop trade worth having, both for its extent and profits, in many articles, by making full use of the facilties afforded by this Parcels-Post Service. It is safe, speedy, and the most available convenient means for sending goods in the quantities allowed to the destinations named. In illustration of the use which has already been made of it, the fact is of record, that last summer a St. Louis establishment sent to Mexico the parts of a complete buggy, to fill an order from that country.—Postal Guide.

PUMPING FOR LIFE.

A Unique but Startling Cure for Laziness.

A traveller, in the course of a morning walk in Amsterdam, came upon a group gathered round a well, into which a strongly built man had just been let down. A pipe, whose mouth was at the top of the well, had been opened, and a stream of water from it was flowing into the well, and gradually filling it. The man below had quite enough to do, if he did not want to be drowned, to keep the water out by means of a pump that was at the bottom of the well.

The traveller, pitying the man, asked for an explanation of what seemed a cruel, heartless joke.

"Sir," replied an old man standing near, "that fellow is, as you see, healthy and strong. I have myself offered him work twenty times, but he always allows laziness to get the better of him, and will make any excuse to beg his bread from door to door, though he might easily earn it if he chose.

"We are now trying to make him realize that he must work. If he uses the strength that is in his arms, he will be saved; if he lets them hang idle, he will be drowned. But look," continued the old Dutchman, as he went to the edge of the well, "the fellow finds out that he has muscles already; in an hour we shall let him out with better resolutions for the future."

The traveller watched until the man was liberated from his watery prison, and felt sure that at least a temporary cure had been effected.—Youth's Companion.

IT PAYS

To be cautious in the choice of medicines. Many are injured by trying experiments with compounds purporting to be blood-purifiers, the principal recommendation of which would seem to be their "cheapness." Being made up of worthless, though not always harmless, ingredients, they may well be "cheap;" but, in the end, they are dear. The most reliable medicines are costly, and can be retailed at moderate prices, only when the manufacturing chemist handles the raw materials in large quantities. It is economy, therefore,

"It is a wonder to me that any other than Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a show in the market. If people consulted their own interest, they would never use any other; for it is not only the best, but, on account of its concentrated strength and purity, it is the most economical."—James F. Duffy, Druggist, Washington st., Providence, R. I.

Dr. A. L. Almond, Druggist, Liberty, Va., writes: "Leading physicians in this city prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have sold it for eighteen years, and have the highest regard for its healing qualities."

"Although the formula is known to the trade, there can be no successful imitation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Without having the enormous facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co., it is impossible for other parties to put together such valuable ingredients, at the low cost of Ayer's
